

A spell to bless to your household broom and add magic to your everyday housekeeping

You will need:
Three colors of ribbon,
about 1 yard of each color
A new broom

Choose three colors of ribbon,
one to represent each of the Maiden,
Mother and Crone.
White for the Maiden, Red for the Mother and Black for the Crone are traditional.

Let your heart be your guide.
If you see the Maiden in the pale yellow of wildflowers, the Mother in the deep green of a forest filled with life,
and the Crone in mysterious,
royal purple, use those colors.

You'll need about a yard of each color of ribbon.
Knot the three ribbons together
at one end, saying:

With knot one, the magic is begun

Braid the three strands together.
As you braid, you can say any Goddess chant you like, or say:

*Maiden, Mother and Crone,
bless and protect our home.*

As you braid the ribbons, feel the energy of the Goddess flowing through you into the braid, creating a strong blessing.

When the ribbon is braided, tie a knot in the end to hold the braid, saying:

*With one last knot,
the magic is caught*

Tie this ribbon in a bow around your broom (up high enough to keep the braid out of the dirt)
saying:

*Maiden, Mother and Crone
bless and protect our home.*

1

2

3

Blessed Be!

5

4

A mini-spellbook from www.lunassgathering.com

Triple Goddess
Blessing
for a Broom

For more free
mini-spellbooks,
please visit
www.lunassgathering.com

Another sweeping chant you can use:
*Dark Grandmother Hecate,
Take this dust and entropy,
Leave our home clean and free
As I ask, so shall it be* Hecate rules over the wish to be rid of something or to end something.
When you use this chant, think of offering Her not only the dust but also the things you want to change like bad habits, and things you want to be rid of like the negativity after unhappy news or an argument.
Meditate on what you want to sweep out of your life as you clean your home.

Now your broom is a tool which will not only rid your home of cobwebs, dirt and dust,
it also stirs up powerful blessings
and protection.
Any time you sweep, visualize the Goddess spreading Her love through your home, filling your life with joy and magic.
As you sweep, you can chant:
*Maiden, Mother and Crone
bless and protect our home*