

A spell to bless to your household broom and add magic to your everyday housekeeping

- You will need:
 Salt
 Clear water
 A container for water
 Incense & holder
 A new broom

To represent forces of Earth and Water
 Mix a little salt into some clear water (in a large seashell, or plain dish)

To represent forces of Fire and Air:
 Light a stick of incense (sage for purification, or sandalwood for protection).

Put the incense in a safe holder.

Dip your fingertips into the salt water, and flick a few droplets of water onto the broom straws, saying:

Spirits of water, make this a tool to bless and protect our home
Spirits of earth, make this a tool to bless and protect our home

Visualize the spirits of water and earth coming to add their powers to your magic.

See the broom beginning to glow with a white light.

Pass the broom over the incense (not too close, please, brooms are flammable), allowing the tendrils of smoke to curl around the broom straws, saying:

Spirits of fire, make this a tool to bless and protect our home
Spirits of air, make this a tool to bless and protect our home

Visualize the spirits of fire and air coming to add their powers to your magic.

See the broom beginning to glow even brighter with white light.

When you use your broom, you can chant as you are sweeping, asking the spirits of the elements for their blessings and protection for your home.
Spirits of water, bless and protect our home
Spirits of earth, bless and protect our home
Spirits of fire, bless and protect our home
Spirits of air, bless and protect our home

Now your broom is a tool which will not only rid your home of cobwebs, dirt and dust, it also stirs up powerful blessings and protection.
 Any time you sweep, imagine the little elementals happily scattering through the room like tiny sparkling fairies, helping to fill your home with joy and magic.
